CLIPPER WINDPOWER JOINS AIM

CARPINTERIA, CALIFORNIA – September 14, 2005 - Clipper Windpower designs wind turbines and is a developer and owner of wind farm development projects. Since it was founded in 2001, the Company has focused on developing advanced wind turbine technology, resulting in the new architecture of the C-93 Liberty turbine.

In the short term, Clipper's main focus will be the development of its wind power projects into which the Liberty turbines will be installed. It has already assembled a substantial portfolio of sites for wind farm development, with potential capacity totaling over 5,800 MW. It will also manufacture and sell its turbines to third parties.

Clipper Windpower raised gross proceeds of approximately £75m through a share placing of approximately 95,178,793 million new shares at a price of 190p per share. At admission, the company had a market capitalization of £180m, making it one of the largest AIM floats of 2005. The company's ticker symbol is CWP.

Commenting on the IPO, James Dehlsen, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, said, "We are delighted by the response received from investors to the Clipper story and look forward to our pending admission to listing on AIM. Increasing global energy demand and cost competitiveness of wind as an energy source support wind power's position as the fastest growing sector of global electric power. The proceeds from the successful placing will allow us to move forward with the execution of our business plan." Lehman Brothers is sole nominated adviser, broker and book runner to Clipper Windpower.
